Modern Philosophy (2025, with references to 1998, 1967)

By Louis Althusser

I. What is Philosophy?

Althusserianism is about a field of forces in a conjuncture defined by the theoretical conjuncture – in this space we draw a line of demarcation.

II. Althusser and Economics – Sirohi's long detour into Philosophy – a Young Hegel

In fact economics is about Althusserian style – just the approach to in fact analysis, even forms of experimentalism, which includes Guy Debord a lot, and forms of Luckacsian theories of novels, and literary criticism mainly – the concept of the novel – its conceptual object which is bound to genealogy as in Warren, a young comrade.

III. Paintings of the Abstract – Cremonini (1967)

In fact background and foreground is ideology and life.
